

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

John and Carol D'Attoma Honored with National Volunteer Leadership Award for Dedication to SACRED

Overland Park, KS — The Sexually Abused Children's Relief Endeavor (SACRED) proudly announces that founders John and Carol D'Attoma have received the Volunteer Leadership Award from the National Children's Alliance. This prestigious award honors their exceptional volunteer service and unwavering dedication to children and families affected by sexual abuse.

John and Carol have been central to SACRED's mission of providing financial assistance and advocacy to survivors of child sexual abuse. Their leadership has brought critical awareness to this issue and helped countless children access the support they need to heal.

"We are incredibly grateful for John and Carol's contributions," said Teresa Huizar, CEO of the National Children's Alliance. "Thank you to John and Carol for finding a way to continue to support and enhance the lives of so many for years to come."

Each year, the National Children's Alliance Volunteer Leadership Award recognizes individuals who exemplify dedication to Child Advocacy Centers nationwide. John and Carol D'Attoma demonstrate these qualities through their founding of SACRED and their continuous advocacy for child sexual abuse survivors and their families.

"This award is not just for us," said John D'Attoma. "It belongs to the incredible children who bravely come forward and speak their truth, to the parents who believe them, and to the tireless advocates who walk beside them through the pain. You are the heart of SACRED. You are the real heroes of our work."

SACRED congratulates John and Carol on their well-deserved recognition.
